

HELLENIC REPUBLIC
National and Kapodistrian
University of Athens

Computational Stylistics Lab
Phonetics and Computational Linguistics Lab

Recent trends in Quantitative Linguistics

Program

Wednesday March 27, 2019

AULA, School of Philosophy, Panepistimioupoli Zografou, Athens

27/03/2019

09:30 – 10:00	REGISTRATION
10:00 – 10:10	GREETINGS – OPENING SESSION
10:10 – 10:30	Hermann Moisl Visualizing the shape of linguistic data
10:30 – 10:50	Jan Macutek Towards an automatic text classification based on distances between words of equal length
10:50 – 11:10	Xinying Chen How does the word length of Chinese words change? A diachronic analysis based on Google Ngrams
11:10 – 11:40	COFFEE BREAK
11:40 – 12:00	Radek Cech 'Motherhood' Presentations in Czech Journalistic Texts. Corpus Analysis
12:00 – 12:20	Miroslav Kubát Context Specificity of Lemma - Diachronic analysis
12:20 – 12:40	George Mikros &amp; George Markopoulos Using Multiword Sequences as Features In Authorship Attribution: Experiments Based On Greek Blog Texts
12:40 – 13:00	Emmerich Kelih Bibliography and digital archive of Quantitative Linguistics - recent developments